

WHY?

WHY?

DO ANDERSON & DeCLUTE SELL MORE CLOTHING ANNUALLY THAN ALL THE OTHER CLOTHING HOUSES IN ALLEN COUNTY?

BECAUSE their stock is larger; they carry a stock which in size and style would be a credit to a city twice the size of Iola. There is a great deal of satisfaction in having a heap of nice goods to select from. BECAUSE their goods can be bought for less money. Anderson & DeClute buy their goods at wholesale on a cash basis, and having the advantage of years of experience they buy in the cheapest market, and can well afford to sell at a low margin because they do such a large business. BECAUSE their business has been so long established in Iola that everyone in Allen county knows them and has perfect confidence that their goods will be just as represented.

Their spring stock of goods is now nearly all in, and comprises something for everybody. Sack coats, cutaways, dress suits, outing shirts and spring head wear; hundreds of pairs of shoes, and in fact anything you want. Give them a call.

ANDERSON & DeCLUTE, Iola, Kans.

THE IOLA REGISTER.
FRIDAY, MARCH 24, 1893.
OFFICIAL PAPER OF ALLEN COUNTY.
CHAS. F. SCOTT.
Published every Friday.
Entered in postoffice at Iola at 2d class matter.

ONE of the Republican officials whom the Populists denounced with particular bitterness was Frank H. Betton, labor commissioner. He was such a bad man that when the new administration came in his head was one of the first to fall into the basket, and a good Populist by the name of Todd was put in his place. Mr. Todd was interviewed the other day, and this is what he said:

"In making up the forthcoming report I shall take up Mr. Betton's work where he left it and his plan will be carried out to the letter. Mr. Betton is an able gentleman and his ideas are good as was shown by the fact that although Kansas spends less on her labor bureau than any other state, one of her reports is the second medal at the Paris exposition."

THEY seem to have had a regular old-fashioned Democratic time of it at Washington on inauguration day. The New York Sun (Dem.) reports it as follows:

There was much disorder, and there was drunkenness so general that even some soldiers and many policemen shared in it. It had been so cold that men and many women yielded to the temptation to take frequently of liquor and the consequence was pitiful. It was had enough to see drunken militiamen trailing the butts of their guns in the mud as they staggered through the streets, but it was worse to hear of distinguished public men showing signs of disarrangement on the reviewing stand, and it was a thousand times worse to hear of the drunken women who accompanied these men.

THE confusions are confounded. Senator Martin went to the President the other day with a list of Democrats that he wanted appointed to office in order that fusion might be perpetuated. Mr. Cleveland very bluntly told him that he considered the Populist movement a menace to good government and that he would not encourage it. The Senator went away sorrowful. On the same day a Kansas delegation waited upon the Secretary of the Interior in the interest of Mr. Glick, and was told emphatically that Glick would not be appointed, the reason, understood if not expressed, being that he had given too much aid and comfort to fusion. And Brer Glick is coming home sorrowful. If the new administration persists in the policy which these incidents would seem to foreshadow, the days of fusion in Kansas will be few and full of trouble. A combine that was engineered for spoils and only spoils, cannot live long when the spoils are not forthcoming.

Fred Funston's Great Trip.
Fred Funston, who has spent the winter in Washington classifying and arranging the botanical specimens he gathered in Alaska last summer—the best collection, by-the-way, which was ever brought from that country—has been here this week for a short visit home. Fred has already made several long, lonesome and dangerous trips, but he starts to-day or to-morrow on the longest, loneliest and most dangerous he has ever yet attempted. It is to occupy nearly two years, and involves a winter within the Arctic circle and a long journey across an utterly unexplored country. From his "marching orders" signed by the Secretary of Agriculture, we are permitted to copy the following, which will show where he is expected to go:

"After a leave of absence of seven days in Kansas, which is hereby granted, you will proceed to Tacoma, Washington; thence by steamer to Juneau, Alaska, arriving there about April 10. You will from that point cross the mountains by either the Chilkoot Pass or the Taku route, if possible, the tundra region of northern Alaska. After remaining in this vicinity long enough to make collections of the earlier spring vegetation, you will proceed, about June 20, down the Porcupine and Yukon rivers, making collections en route and reaching St. Michaels in August. From that point you will take passage to San Francisco, there awaiting further instructions."

McQuestin's Post is a station of the Alaska Fur Company, at the head of the Yukon river, where the mercury is frozen about eight months in the year, and where the temperature is estimated, during most of the winter, to be about seventy degrees below zero. Fred will stay there till April, 1894, when he will cross overland to Rampart House. This will be the most difficult and dangerous part of the journey. The trip will be taken by dog sledges over the snow and it is thought it may be made in 20 days, although no white man has ever attempted it. Arriving safely at Rampart House the remaining part of the journey will be a pleasant jaunt of 1500 miles in a birch bark canoe down the Porcupine and Yukon rivers, and 70 miles in a similar vessel across the open sea to St. Michaels, another fur trading post in the Arctic ocean.

The chief object of the expedition is to collect specimens of the flora of the region traversed, but incidentally the topography of the country, the temperature, humidity and other physical features will be carefully noted. It is a great big lonesome trip, the going entirely alone—and a man of less experience, less endurance and less courage than Fred Funston might well shrink from undertaking it. Indeed men who have plenty of experience and nerve, who have taken part of this journey, have told Fred that they could not tempt them to go with him. And it is certainly a great distinction for a mere boy to have been chosen for so arduous and hazardous a task. It is an expedition that will attract the attention of scientists men the world over, and if successfully accomplished it will make Fred Funston famous. And that it will be successful we do not in the least doubt. It will take a good stomach and a good heart and sound lungs, and plenty of discretion and sand and nerve and pluck, but Fred has all of these to sell. We bid him good-bye and God speed to day with every confidence that some September day in 1894 he will swing open our office door and say "Hello!", as jaunty and light as if he had only been gone around the corner for an hour. It's a very long haul, but go with him and bless him and keep him from all harm!

Obituary.
DIED: At Osawatimie, Kansas, March 19, 1893, Samuel Whitaker, in the 64th year of his age.
The deceased was born in Coshocton county, O., October 4, 1829, and was reared on a farm. In 1861 he went to Illinois and enlisted as a private in Co. C, Second Ill. Cavalry. He served to the end of the war, was honorably discharged, and then engaged in the mercantile business in Havana, Ill., and continued it until 12 years ago when he came to Kansas, locating at Carlyle where he has since lived. About two years ago he received a stroke from which he never recovered, and which finally resulted in mental derangement rendering necessary his confinement in the asylum, so that death, when it came was a welcome release.

The wife of the deceased died about three years ago, but three children remain to receive the sympathy of friends. Capt. Whitaker was a brother of Mr. L. Whitaker, of Iola, and was a brave soldier, a good citizen and an honest man.
The remains were brought to Iola Tuesday and interred under the auspices of the Methodist church. The funeral services were held at the residence of Mr. L. Whitaker, of Iola, at which the deceased was a member.

District Court Proceedings.
The District Court convened at one o'clock Monday, and has disposed of business as follows:

John H. Moore vs M. B. Mullaney et al. (foreclosure) judgment for plaintiff, vs Mullaney for $284.22, and vs S. C. Jones for same amount, and foreclosure of mortgage awarded.
Francis A. Burton vs S. J. Stewart (first trial in ejectment) judgment for defendant, new trial granted.
Mrs. Libbie Heck vs D. W. Perkins et al. (foreclosure) dismissed at plaintiff's costs.

H. B. Smith vs N. J. Rumbel, (chattel mortgage) dismissed, costs paid.
A. W. Beck vs W. H. Allenbaugh (attachment) dismissed, costs paid.
J. L. Hopkins vs O. S. Smith (confirmation) sale confirmed and deed ordered.

Aultman Taylor Co. vs F. A. Mathews, same above.
Edward L. Neale vs Mo. Pac. R.R. Co. (damages) judgment for plaintiff for $500 and costs.
State vs C. F. Mettlen (forgery) verdict of not guilty.
State vs G. W. Johnson (arson) verdict of not guilty.

State vs C. E. Jones (obtaining money under false pretenses) dismissed.
A DRUGGIST TALKS.
Will F. Crawford, druggist at Des Moines, Iowa, says it is remarkable the way Cubeb Cough Cure sells, that his customers speak of it in the highest terms of praise. On man in particular who has been troubled with bronchitis for years never found any relief until he used the Cubeb Cough Cure. He says it stopped it at once. He doesn't hesitate to recommend it for all throat and lung troubles. Evans Bros.

CORRESPONDENCE.

From Register Reporters—What is Being Done Throughout the County—Events and Gossip of the Week.

Prairie Hall.
We will not say anything about the weather, for we think it speaks for itself.

We were kindly remembered in a treat of California oranges received by Mr. Boken from his daughter Milla, who lives at Pasadena, the oranges were of size and the finest and largest we ever saw.

Our Sunday school treated themselves to a new call. We are now practicing a bell drill, the World's Fair many of our pupils may enter into the drill contest.

Misses Ada and Estel Sullivan were the guests of Mrs. Gullett last week.

Mr. Jean Powers, of Iola, was out in this community, and although a staunch democrat, he stands up for the Iola Register and said Scott is a worthy opponent.

Mr. DeHart of Moran was out and bought two three-year-old colts of J. W. Gullett last week.

Born the 14th, to Mr. and Mrs. Montbeck, a son.
Born the 24th, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Isaac, a daughter.

Mr. Hart and Son of Iola, were in this community last week and bought 12 head of cattle making 20 head he has bought in the last two weeks.

The photograph at the Hall the 14th was appreciated by lovers of music.

We knew that we could not go another month without a wedding, tell you our girls are getting scarce and we do not want to lose more of the young men of this community since November.

We wish to add our congratulations to Dredon Isaac and Lottie Allen. We wish them all pleasure there is in life and if throwing rice and lemon would add any to their happiness, we would invest what we have left of our last year's salary and what a throw we would give them.

Those that were at the Hall the 14th from other towns were as follows: Misses Nettie and Nellie Walton from Elmore; Wilson Hawley and Mr. Brown from Iola; Henry and Mr. Brown from Elmore; John Stewart and the Funston Postmaster.

Any Seymour has been in Iola under the Dental treatment of Dr. Higgins.

It is useless to say we welcome our Editor back. How often have some so-called friends declared your friends in an effort to get you out of town and how often have they been disappointed.

Miss Wright of Moran spent Sunday with her aunt, Mrs. J. O. Ferris.

Miss Fairman passed through town a day or two since on her way to Moran to visit relatives.

South Salem.
As the Kansas war is over the farmer can resume the spring work with more tranquility and many have already finished the oat sowing, which is also being sown, although unusually high.

Our school closes on Wednesday, April 21st, with a large number of appropriate closing exercises in the afternoon. The proceeds to be used for the library fund for the district.

Rev. Shuey will preach here Sunday p. m. Mr. Newton has recovered sufficiently to move to the farm.

A letter from Wm Ferguson at Wellington says business there is stagnated and he now intends to locate in Kingman county on a farm of his own.

A party Tuesday at Jas. Shedd's dinner was given in honor of Howard Rogers birthday.

The friends of Grandpa Delaplain are glad to know that he has many years been granted a pension as a survivor of the Black Hawk war.

W. E. Allen has purchased a new buggy. The parties who were at the hall on Monday are quite a number of them and are now intending to locate in Kingman county on a farm of his own.

LaHarpe.
We hear that Lizzie Hart has returned home from Illinois.

Harry Cade is again circulating among friends after an absence of several months. He has been attending school at Ft. Scott.

Meers D. B. Smeltzer, Al Campbell and brother of Iola, were in our city one day last week. The latter two had been out trying their skill on wild ducks, which seem to have been quite numerous the past few weeks.

The surprise that was to be on Tuesday evening did not come off until the next evening, at Mr. Siedel's. All seemed to enjoy themselves and there was more than the hospitable host and hostess. It was a complete surprise to both.

Quite a number of Mr. and Mrs. Eyles friends unexpectedly called on them on the evening of the 14th to join them in the celebration of the tenth anniversary of their marriage.

The event was of seemingly much pleasure to all, and all seemed to enjoy themselves. Several nice presents adapted to the occasion. Capt. Travis and John Laury were present and where they are, there will be fun of some kind, if possible.

Mr. Funk and daughter Mrs. Steinmetz, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eyles last week. Mr. Steinmetz is attending the annual conference of the Evangelical church.

Mr. Gilliam has again been returned to this charge. Most all welcome him back. We hope he will be instrumental in doing much good the coming year. One thing we do know and that is, there is less gambling, drinking, swearing and loafing than formerly.

Will Huber has been in Lagipire thraldom the past few days. Carl Barnhill is also sick.

Another hop and supper at Chas. Coles. We enjoyed a large crowd was present. "Night fantastic" enjoyed themselves tripping the light fantastic.

Geo. Rosenberger is working for Mr. Fox and Walter Brown is working for J. T. Wood in Independence district.

Miss Mary Johnson who has been spending the winter with her sister Mrs. Chas. Smith, is returning to her home in Illinois.

Grandma Malcom is visiting her son at Weir City.

Mr. E. Delaplain was around assessing the week. Death, tax and railroad bills are sure.

J. C. Rucker is on the sick list.

A good sized crowd was out to the Phonograph entertainment on Wednesday night. We understand, we did not have the phonograph present. We hear our townsmen, Mr. Love is going to travel with the Phonograph man.

We wish him much success.

Miss Lizzie McElroy has again become a resident of "Hub." She is working for Mrs. J. Hackney.

Miss Ella Arnold, after a sojourn of several months in our city, has returned to her home in the city.

Miss Wright of Moran spent Sunday with her aunt, Mrs. J. O. Ferris.

Miss Fairman passed through town a day or two since on her way to Moran to visit relatives.

Geneva.
Rev. Moore thinks it will be necessary for him to resign his pastorate of the Congregational church, owing to failure of voice, and take a much needed rest.

John Irwin has received a position as operator in a Colorado town.

C. L. Knowlton and O. R. Miller made a business trip to Iola last Thursday.

Carl Gray is assisting Chas. Leake with farm work this spring.

G. M. Richards, of Moran, showed his smiling countenance in our midst one day recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Spicer and Mrs. Fryer were in Iola, one day last week.

Miss Manly Eise spent several days with her usual friends in this locality.

The annual meeting of the Ladies Missionary Society was held at Mrs. Master's Thursday evening.

Arthur Leavitt is looking after Fred Child's interests on the farm while the latter is shipping hay from Toronto.

The regular business meeting of the Congregational church was held on the 11th. Four new members were added to the church on the following Sunday.

Mrs. Mattie Kerr of Chautauque and Clarke Riggs of Iola visited their sister Mrs. Carter Thursday last week.

Dr. H. E. Wilkins' goods were shipped to Greenville, Illinois. He expects to practice near there.

Master Warren Babcock who has been stopping at Mr. Knowlton's during the winter departed for his home in Kansas City Saturday.

Mrs. L. S. Childs and daughter Sadie of Chautauque, Oklahoma, are giving their many friends a pleasant visit this week.

The prospects for a good wheat crop are flattering.

James Leavitt closed the winter term of school in the west district this week. He has been employed to teach the spring term.

Mrs. Gray who has been quite sick from the effect of the grip, is improving.

A Mr. Gates living north of town was buried in the Geneva cemetery March 13th, and a number of his Colony friends were in attendance.

John Palmer has resigned his office of township trustee and O. R. Miller has been appointed in his stead. Mr. Miller has held the position before and makes an efficient and accomplished officer.

A number from here attended the Woodman lodge at Geneva last Wednesday.—Post.

Spring Valley.
It seems that winter is not through with her blaste yet.

The Sunday school was poorly attended Sunday on account of the funeral at Elmore.

There was probably a larger crowd there than was ever in Elmore before.

We wish to correct an error which was in our issue of the 17th inst. We say "Mrs. Hammet" when it should have been "Mr. Hammet."

Mr. Booth's chickens have averaged here one dollar a day since Jan. 1st 1893.

Miss Laura Epling was visiting Florence Whitlow the first of the week.

The projected meeting of the Osage Baptist church is still in progress. A great interest is being manifested.

Friday was Mrs. Culler's 2nd birthday. The neighbors looked in with well filled baskets to remind her that she was still remembered, and the time passed away very pleasantly.

The report that Mr. Blunt is dead is untrue, on the contrary, he is some better.

Mr. A. Houty returned to his home in Menden, Mo. last week. His wife will return this week.

The farmers all have their oats in, and are now plowing even to the rear door.

On returning from the timber with a load of wood Saturday Mr. Cash's wagon broke down about half past six and he will be here this week.

Charlie Williams was in our vicinity last week.

Elmore.
Elmore is not at home this week, it has gone courting.

On Saturday night there were two attempts at robbery, one being made at the rear door of Peter Kumbal's store and the other at the front of the depot. It seems as if the fire did not ignite the coal oil lamp in the store, but would suppose, but went out. Many think that they were not intended to burn, but that they were meant as a message to Mr. Johnson.

The building formerly occupied by widow Johnson, near C. D. Willsough's was fired on Sunday evening about 9 o'clock and in a short time was in ashes.
